PROMOTIONS BY BREVET

Gen. Corbin, adjutant general of the army, does not propose to rest under the imputations that have been made against his military record by persons who are endeav oring to defeat the proposition to raise the office of the adjutant general of the arm; to the grade of major general. That he ha shown in the following correspondence:

Gen. Corbin's Letter. Adjutant General's Office, Washington, March 6, 1900

Dear Sir: My attention has been called to certain newspaper reports purporting to set forth extracts from a "memorial" that is said to have been transmitted to you, which are in the nature of charges affecting my are in the nature of charges affecting my record as an officer of the army.

So far as these statements, or any others, may be deserving of consideration or attention I desire to place myself at your command in aiding you to make a searching examination of my record as a soldier, with a view to ascertaining all the truth, and I wish to say in all earnestness if a search reveals to you a suggestion of unworthiness I will close the discussion, so far as I am concerned, by authorizing you to present my resignation from the service to the President.

I believe in disposing of radical evils with quick remedies; and, so far as lies in my

The new in disposing of radical evils with quick remedies; and, so far as lies in my power, this rule is followed in the administration of the adjutant general's department, and I shall not shrink from having the same rule applied to my own case. It is my duty as adjutant general of the army to afford you, and through you, the Congress, all facilities for full and complete information on any averaging affecting the information on any question affecting the efficiency of the military service in part or efficiency of the military service in part or in whole.

I have the honor to hand you herewith an official copy of general orders No. 6, headquarters, 1st Sep. Div., Army of the Cumberland, dated March 14, 1865, promulgating the proceedings and findings of the general court-martial resulting from trial on all allegations; and your especial attention is invited to the unusual expression of the court in its findings, to wit: "Most honorably acquit." That the court was composed of officers of experience and high character goes without saying, and that its proceedings, findings and approval were in all respects regular and lawful has never been questioned.

Your attention is also invited to a copy Your attention is also invited to a copy of the official report (inclosed herewith) of the engagements of the 14th United States Colored Infantry, in and about Decatur, Alabama, during the latter part of the month of October, 1874 (printed in vol. 33, part 1, pp. 714 to 716 of the Records of the Union and Confederate Armies, War of the Rebellion), which report is signed by the officer who later preferred the charges upon which I was tried, one of which related to that time and place.

I feel confident that to one of your long experience as a public officer, and your experience as a public officer, and your high sense of justice, the official records herewith brought to your attention will not permit you to be misled nor to accept as truthful the statements which are reported to be contained in the "memorial" referred camination into my record I will gladly give you any assistance in facilitating an examination of the records made, day by day, from the time when, as a lad of nine-teen, I left my father's farm in southern Ohio and entered the volunteer army. I am now closing my thirty-eighth year of continuous service—a service modest though tinuous service—a service, modest though it has been, I claim to have been honest and faithful. My service in the volunteer army covered nearly four years, having in tha time held commissions of six grades, from second lieutenant to and including that of colonel with brevet of brigadier general. From all of which I was honorably discharged, not only this, but Gen. Grant, while Secretary of War ad interim (two years after the trial herein discussed had been of record in the War Department), conferred upon me by authority of the President, two brevets, one of major, for gallant and meritorious conduct in the battle of Decatur, Ala., and another of lieutenant colonel for like service in the battle of Nashville (copies of which are inclosed) covering the exact dates set forth in the covering the exact dates set forth in the specifications to the charges tried. Following my discharge from the volunteer service I was appointed a second lieutenant in the regular army, and in July, 1866, was appointed a captain in one of the new regiments, and so far as I am aware, without the solicitation of any influence outside of the military service. I had been an officer of the army more than fourteen years before I had the honor of the personal acquaintance of any member of Congress or any one else in touch with the authorities in Washington. My first ten years in the regular army were spent with my company in the then remote western states and terin the then remote western states and ter-ritories of Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, ritories of Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona and Texas, having in that time marched in different expeditions against hostile Indians and changes of station from Fort Riley, Kan., (the western terminal of the railroads leading to the west), to Fort Brown at the mouth of the Rio Grande—the distance traversed and the difficulties of this service being fully understood only by those who have had the experience. During all these ten years I was never absent from duty for a single day from any cause whatever. I served fourteen years as a captain of infantry and in the adjutant general's department, nine years in the grade of major, seven years in the grade of colonel, and at the time of my appointment as adjutant general was the protection of colonel, and at the time of my ap-pointment as adjutant general was the senior colonel in the department. Your at-tention is also invited to the fact that the President tendered me the commission of major general of volunteers, which I had the honor to decline, so that all these offices the honor to decline, so that all these offices (limited in number by law) might be given to officers serving with troops in the field. I have now served in the regular army more than a third of a century, and I have been absent from duty from any cause less than thirty days.

This appeal is made to you in the name of justice, and I am confident that it is not made in vain. Very respectfully,

H. C. CORBIN, Adjutant General. The Court-Martial Record. The inclosures referred to are as follows CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., March 14, 1865.

The Late Lieut. Koehler.

First Lieut. Edgar Frederick Koehler, 9th United States Infantry, whose death was reported in General Otis' cable dis-patch to the War Department this morning, was a native of Illinois, and was born July 9, 1868. He was appointed from the army, being promoted from private and corporal, 8th Infantry, to be second lieutenant of the 11th Infantry October 31, 1894, and was transferred to the 9th Infantry in September, 1807. He served successively at various stations in Arizona, Utah and Arkansas from the time of his commission until the outbreak of the Spanish war, when he was promoted to be first lieutenant of the 14th Infantry, serving with galiantry through the Santiago campaign. He was recommended for a medal of honor for conspicuous galiantry and fearless intrepidity in the battle of San Juan Hill, he being the only officer who ascended the hill mounted in that famous charge. He was again transferred to the 9th Infantry in September, 1838, and served with his regiment in the Philippines from June, 1899, up to the time of his death. 9, 1868. He was appointed from the army

VETERINARY MEDICINE.

Bill to Regulate Its Practice in the

Mr. Cochran has introduced a bill in the Mr. Cochran has introduced a bill in the House, by request (H. R. 9148) to regulate the practice of veterinary medicine in the District. It is a measure of fifteen sections. It provides, in the main, that no person shall, in the District of Columbia, commence, attempt to commence, practice, or hold himself out to the public as practicing veterinary medicine without having obtained and registered a license.

You Have the board of examiners in veterinary medicine, to consist of five reputable practitioners of veterinary medicine, appointed by the property of the District each rest There is created a board, to be known as ers of veterinary medicine, appointed by the Commissioners of the District, each resident of and for three years last past before appointment actively engaged in the practice of his profession therein. The appointments first made shall be one for one year, one for two years, one for three years, and thereafter each appointment shall be for a period of five years, except such as are necessitated by death, resignation or removal, in which cases the appointments shall be for the remainders of the unexpired terms. No appointee shall enter upon the discharge of his duties until he has taken out to fairly and impartially administer the same. Said Commissioners may remove any mem-ber of said board for neglect of duty or ber of said board for neglect of duty or other sufficient cause.

Any person desiring to commence the practice of veterinary medicine in the District shall make application to the board of examiners in veterinary medicine for a license so to do. Application for this purpose shall be upon a form furnished by the board and shall be accompanied, first, by satisfactory evidence of good moral character; second, by a diploma, issued after not less than three years study of veterinary medicine, by some college authorized by law to confer that diploma, and, third, by a fee of $10. Any application may be rejected for material omission or irregularity. The provisions of shills section shall not, however, be construed to apply to third, by a fee of $10. Any application may be rejected for material omission or irregularity. The provisions of sethis section shall not, however, be construed to apply to applicants seeking licenses under the provisions of sections 5 and 6 of the act, which except persons licensed in the states or holding diplomas from veterinary colleges.

A COLLECTOR OF FINES. Proposed Officer to Be Attached to the Police Court.

Mr. O'Grady has introduced in the Hous a bill (H. R. 9195) directing the Commis sioners of the District of Columbia to ap point a collector of fines, at a salary of $1,500 per annum, whose duty it shall to collect all fines, penalties, costs and forfeitures imposed or taxed by the Police Court of the District of Columbia, and to deposit and account for the same as here nafter provided. The collector of fines shall on the first secular day of each week deposit with the collector of taxes the total amount of all fines, penalties, costs and forfeitures collected by him during the week next preceding the date of such deposit, to be covered into the treasury to the credit of the District, and shall render an item-lzed account of each deposit upon such forms and in such manner as shall be prescribed by the auditor of the District. The collector of fines shall give bond to the United States in the penalty of fifteen thousand dollars, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office. It shall be the duty of the auditor of the District of Columbia to audit the accounts of the collector of fines at the end of every quarter and to make prompt report thereof in writing to the Commissioners. In order to enable the auditor of the District to perform the duty hereby imposed upon him he shall have free access to all books, papers and records of the Police Court. All laws or parts of laws inconsistent with this act be and the same are repealed. deposit with the collector of taxes the to are repealed.

JUNIOR REPUBLIC.

Mass Meeting to Be Held at the Co lumbia Theater.

The National Junior Republic, an institution for the reclamation of boys from the cities of Baltimore and Washington who might, without such a place, drift into vicious and criminal careers, has made a number of steps on the road to final and ultimate success. It will be remembered that the two cities last year raised a foundation fund and that a farm was given to the new institution by Mr. Charles Newoold of this city, situated near Annapolis Junction, about half way between Baltimore and Washington. Since that time the farm has been occupied and the buildings on it improved and made convenient for the uses of the new citizens. Several new buildings have been added to the farm, but even these are not sufficient for the needs of the republic. Every available space has been turned into sleeping quarters for the boys, even the jail has been brought into requisition, there being five cots in the attic, one in one of the cells and one in the corridor. An adjoining dwelling has been rented for the purpose of a dermitory building, but this will not be used until the present occupants are able to move out. A carpenter shop has been built and will be ready for use in the next few days, and the boys are enthusiastic over the prospect of having an up-to-date work shop. There are today about twenty boys at the republic, and the authorities will not receive any more on account of want of room.

One visiting this republic is struck with on it improved and made convenient for

One visiting this republic is struck with the perfect harmony existing there, the boys having the bearing of older people, each respecting the rights and feelings of his fellow citizen. This rapid improvement has been accomplished by allowing the boys to make and course. been accomplished by allowing the boye to make and carry out laws set down by themselves, and for any infringement of these laws the offender is brought before a court composed of his fellow citizens, fined by a judge he himself has helped to elect, and if he has not the money to pay the fine, is compelled to serve a term in the jail. This system has worked so admirably that the tone of the boys has undergone a marked improvement, they having too much self-respect to undergo a sening too much self-respect to undergo a sentence in the work gang a second time.

Those interested in the republic in this city will be given an opportunity to learn all about it at a big meeting that has been arranged at the Columbia Theater, Sunday night March 11.

To Purify the Muddy Water.

To the Editor of The Evening Star: Purify your muddy drinking water. You can do this by filling a three-gallon crock or other vessel holding a like amount and dropping into it the quantity of pulverized alum which a 10-cent piece would hold on its surface. Stir slightly and set away for use. This will transform the meddy stuff we have to drink daily to almost crystal purity. The alum is not heartful. Try it. not hartful. Try it.

Several Indictments in Connection With Brooklyn Rapid Transit.

HARRY J. ALEXANDER ARRESTED

Several Other Arrests to Follow-Text of Presentment.

NEW DANGER TO FINANCIERS

NEW YORK, March 6.-The specia grand jury convoked to inquire into Brooklyn Rapid Transit matters, reported to Justice Fursman in the criminal term of the supreme court today. The presentment was made, including a batch of indictments which were filed. Harry J. Alexander, one of the men indicted by the special grand jury, has been arrested. Alexander is a newspaper advertising agent. Three indictments were found against him, one for circulating false rumors, which is a felony, and two for conspiracy. He pleaded not guilty in court today, and was held for trial in $7,000 ball. He was committed pending the finding of bondsmen.

Justice Fursman will not permit the other names to be made public until all arrests have been made, stating that the men will be arraigned in court some time during the day.

Statements in the Presentment. The presentment recounts the means by which the market price of Brooklyn Rapid specifying paid advertisements in news papers here and in Boston and in circulars sent through the mails, predicting heavy declines because of the alleged bad physi cal and financial condition of the company. These statements, it is further said in the presentment, were also disseminated orally and by telegraph and telephone, the result being a heavy decline in which innocent holders of the stock were unable to protect themselves and so "saw their property depreciated day by day." The presentment continues.

continues:
"In our opinion, these deliberate and longcontinued attacks emanated from several sources, but from their very nature, namely from anonymous circulars and word-of-mouth rumors, it has been impossible for this grand jury in every case to trace these rumors to their authors."

It is further added by the presentment:

"The statements referred to are not put forth as mere expressions of opinion, but purport to be based upon accurate inside information, and in numerous instances on downright statements of fact, which are false, and known to be false by the publishers and disseminators thereof. New Danger to Financial World.

"We have no legal evidence of guilty particroation by individuals other than as hown by the indictments we have found, but we believe it our duty to call to the attention of the court and the community this new and peculiar danger to the finan cial world, and to emphasize the fact that the circulation of false statements, rumors and intelligence to affect the value of stocks and securities is equally criminal, whether the object be to enhance or depress the prices of the securities affected. "A realization that detection and punish will surely follow means of suppressing these insidious crimes, which threaten not only the inter-est of specific individuals, but also the gen-eral welfare of the community."
